

Book tickets without credit cards

BANGALORE: "The city is ranked among the top three leisure travel destinations in the country. We have thus launched our third office in Bangalore – after Ahmedabad and Delhi.

"Unlike other operators, we offer a total package to tourists from booking tickets to accommodation," MakeMyTrip.com co-founder and chief marketing officer Sachin Bhatia told Bangalore Mirror on Tuesday.

The benefit of opening a regional office is to ensure that the facility is provided to non-net users also.

"Customers can now walk into our office and book facilities by paying cash without worrying about logging on to the net or swiping credit cards.

"We come up with special packages during the visits of music groups such as Aerospace. Our next initiative in Bangalore will be in October to coincide with the visit of Eagles," he said.

"We have a number of special tie-ups with various service providers. That gives us the edge as we can provide cost cutting solutions to our customers across board. We also offer special packages frequently to stay ahead of competition in this flourishing market. In fact, we have special arrangements with various banks and 2,500 hotels to provide customers discounted fares," he explained.
